

MR. BRYAN'S PROGRAMME.

Mr. Wm. J. Bryan has announced that he will not be a candidate either for the Senate or the House of Representatives. He has also issued an address in which he sets forth the nine issues on which the opponents of the Republican party should make their congressional campaign this year. They are as follows:

"First—They are unalterably opposed to gold monometallism.

"Second—They demand the immediate restoration of bimetalism at the present ratio by the independent action of this country.

"Third—They oppose the retirement of the greenbacks.

"Fourth—They oppose the issue of paper money by national banks.

"Fifth—They oppose the issue of interest-bearing bonds in time of peace.

"Sixth—They favor the income tax as a means of raising a part of the revenue necessary to administer the Federal Government.

"Seventh—They favor the abolition of trusts.

"Eighth—They are opposed to government by injunction.

"Ninth—They are in favor of arbitration as a means of settling disputes between labor and capital.

"Here are the nine issues, which are not only important in themselves, but are now prominently before the people. Are not these reforms worth securing? These questions were submitted to the people at the last election, but they were not settled, and will not be settled until they are settled right.

AN ORPHAN ASYLUM IN CUBA.

A letter has been received by the Christian Herald from Consul-General Fitzhugh Lee, in Havana, relative to the founding of an orphan asylum in Cuba. General Lee said:

"I have considered the advisability of renting a large and suitable building for the purpose of founding a destitute orphan asylum, where the little starving children who have no parents or relatives to watch over them can be placed, and where they will be fed and well cared for, and, perhaps, later given some sort of education. I find that I can rent a most commodious establishment, with a large bath and all conveniences, as well as ground around it, which the children can use for air and exercise. I would, through humane agents, collect these little ones and have them transferred to the establishment, where they could be in charge of nurses and other suitable attendants."

The Christian Herald, in reply, cabled that it would pay the rent of the proposed asylum for a year and furnish all supplies, and guarantee to raise all other expenses for the institution.

MONEY MAKES A POINT.

"Think of it," says Senator Money, of Mississippi, "a few months ago President McKinley announced a commission of able men to go abroad and advocate bimetalism. The wisest statesmen of Europe listened politely and courteously to the bright and brilliant Wolcott, to the suave and judicious Stevenson and to the eloquent Paine. All told of the earnestness of Americans for bimetalism, and of the sincerity of the President in seeking to secure an international agreement.

A little later these same statesmen of Europe take up their morning papers and read that Secretary Gage has submitted to the American Congress a bill to fix the gold standard more firmly, and this with apparent sanction of the President, who was supposed to be the ardent friend of bimetalism. These statesmen of Europe will laugh at us; they will say that we are making ourselves ridiculous in the eyes of the whole world."

SONG OF THE NEW WOMAN.

Onward, roll onward, O Time, in your flight, make me a woman that's clear out of sight; give me bloomers and breeches and shirts, let me get out of these horrible skirts. A whiskey producer invent if you can, give me a head that grows bald like a man's; grow a tobacco that won't make me sick, and teach me to chew a la man very quick. Let me, O let me drink whiskey and swear, bet on the chickens and back the fleet mare; stay out nights, hold office and vote, take in the town and a six shooter tote; sit in the huzzard row if I choose, play baseball and football and wear those spike shoes. Onward, roll onward, O Time, quickly fly, make me a man or else help me to die; this world as it is fairly fills me with woe, but were I a man 't would be heaven below.—Orange Observer.

Minister (to elderly female crofter)—"I am sorry to hear your potatoes are very bad this year, Janet." "Deed they are, sir, but I've reasons to be thankful to Providence that other folks are as badly off as myself."

A happy mother, the happiest being in this world. To hold in her arms a dear little life—a part of her very own life—resting, trusting and dependent on her protecting arms, is the sweetest, most sacred responsibility of a woman's existence. But many a woman, approaching the time of motherhood, feels most deeply its duties and responsibilities. She is burdened with a sense of anxiety and uneasiness, and the state of mind is unfavorable both to the mother and the child. A prospective mother may have herself against the slightest fear of danger or excess in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, during the period of expectation, making the most of the pregnancy, and giving her baby absolutely safe and comparatively painless.

ECONOMY OF GOOD ROADS.

(New York Mail and Express.)

New Jersey has gained an enviable reputation for the lead it has taken in improving its roads, and it is not surprising that the State has been selected by the Post Office Department for one of its experiments in the practicability of rural mail deliveries by carriers. The report of the Commissioner of Roads shows that this work is making such gratifying progress that, as soon as a few connecting links have been finished, it will be possible to travel on macadam from Jersey City to Atlantic City, and from Patterson to the Delaware River. The State Aid law, at first opposed by the farmers, has won their enthusiastic support, since they have learned that the additional tax is far more than offset by the lower cost of transportation of their products, and by the greater frequency with which city folks go into the country.

Some striking figures bearing upon the cost of transportation have been collated by the New Jersey Road Commissioner. He shows that the saving on a bushel of wheat carted over good roads for five miles is equivalent to the cost of 600 miles of transportation by steamer or canal or of 375 miles by rail. It costs $2 a ton to haul the farm produce of the American farmer to market; and if all the hauling were done over good roads, the total saving to the farmer would be $600,000,000. The most expensive part of the journey of wheat from the field to the market is that portion which lies between the farm and the town or railway station. The truth is becoming more and more widely known, and the practical economy of good roads is giving every year greater impetus to the movement for the improvement of these bands of civilization.

ALL AROUND THE FARM.

An Iowa breeder is of the opinion that his hogs have escaped cholera this winter from being fed on pumpkin. The disease has been all around him, but he has not had a sick hog.

Try to raise some crop different from those of your neighbors, becoming skillful in its management, producing a fine and desirable article, and finding a home market for it with little competition.—Vick's Magazine.

Look out at this time of the year for sheep that are nibbling at their sides. It is a sure indication of ticks, which should be got rid of at once. A general dipping this month would relieve the flock, both lambs and sheep, of this troublesome pest.

The depth at which seeds should be planted depends on the texture of the soil. On stiff, heavy clay soil the covering may be light, but on sandy soils a deeper covering should be given.

Shredded fodder is one of the best coarse foods that can be used for cattle, considering its cost, but one fact in connection with cornfodder, hay and other bulky foods is that grain should also be allowed. The bulky foods will reduce the cost because smaller quantities of the concentrated foods will answer the purpose, but grain should always be a portion of the daily ration if the best results are expected. The combination of grain and bulky food will be found superior to either grain or fodder when but one kind is used.

It may seem strange to advise applying wood ashes unrelucted to stable manure just before it is plowed under. Yet this is often a good thing to do. While exposed to the air, especially if the manure be wet so as to leach the ashes, there will be some loss of ammonia. But so fast as the manure and ashes are turned under, this waste of ammonia ceases. The ashes cause the manure to ferment rapidly, and in contact with the soil none of the ammonia will be lost. In fact, much of it will combine with the potash in the ashes, forming a nitrate of potash, which is the most effective measure known.—American Cultivator.

THE FLOWER BED.

Outdoor flowers afford much enjoyment, but many failures occur with flowering plants. This is the time for preparing beds. Put fine, well-rotted manure on the plot and leave it on the surface until early spring; then spade it into the ground, mixing it well with the soil by raking with a pronged hoe. All lumps should be removed, and finish the manure the better.

"Now," said the attorney for the defense, "here is a skull, O. N. you tell us to what species it belongs, sir." "It's the skull of a lawyer," said the expert witness. "How can you tell?" "By the cheekbones."

Rich Uncle—"I have just made my will in your favor, Tom. I have left all my money to the Foreign Missions Society, and specified that they must engage you as their lawyer when the other heirs try to break the will. I left it that way, so as to make sure of your getting it, Tom—roast them, my boy; roast them! If you let the missionaries get a cent of it I'll come back and haunt you!"

SHE HAD LOST IT.

An old woman whose husband was ill in bed sent for the doctor, who came and saw the old lady.

"I will send him some medicine," he said, on leaving, "which must be taken in a recumbent posture."

After he had gone the old woman sat down, greatly puzzled.

"The recumbent posture—a recumbent posture!" she kept repeating. "I haven't got one." At last she thought "I will go and see if old Mrs. Smith has got one to lend me."

Accordingly she went and said to her neighbor:

"Have you a recumbent posture to lend me to put some medicine in?"

Mrs. Smith, who was equally as ignorant as her friend, replied:

"I had one, but to tell you the truth, I have lost it."
